February 24

For Sale or Lease,

THE following tracts of land in Charles county, Maryland: one lying on the Potomac, at the mouth of Pomonkey creek, containing three hundred and forty acres, about 16 miles from Alexandria, the larger portion level land, of a stiff soil, well adapted to the cultivation of corn, wheat and tobacco, and equal in fertility to any in the neighborhood. On this farm is one of the most elegant sites for building of all those fine heights which border the Potomac, commanding the most extensive view of the adjacent country, both in Virginia and Maryland, for more than twenty miles up and down the river; located in a genteel neighborhood, it would make an agreeable residence, and from its proximity to market, with the advantage of the best navigation, an extremely profitable farm.—The tenant's houses would accommodate the negroes for its cultivation.
A Tract, about one mile back from the former, containing 334 acres, a large portion in wood, white and red oak, and some chesnut; the remainder a tenement in tolerable repair, the whole a high Miff soil, similar to the one above mentioned.
A Tract, lying at the mouth of Mattawoman Creek, about 25 miles from Alexandria, the whole first rate flat river land, now completely enclosed.—On this tract is a noted fishery, called Rum Point, at which there has been cleared upwards of two thousand dollars per annum, and where, independent of the fish sold on the shore, there might be put up from one to two thousand barrels every season; besides the profits of the fishery, the advantage of manuring the farm with the offal of the shore, the whole, with a small portion of industry, might be made to produce ten barrels of corn per acre. On the shore, are a dwelling house, houses for bolding salt, and curing any quantity of fish, and for the accommodation of hands.
A Tract, lying about 13 miles from the last mentioned, containing 236 acres, more than 200 of which are in wood, and would cut from 25 to 30 cords per acre, within one mile of the river, where wood has rarely sold for less than five dollars per cord. It will be divided into 50 or 25 acre lots, to suit purchasers.—If preferred, the wood will be sold standing, for so much per acre.
If not disposed of, previous to the first day of Sept. next, the above mentioned arable lands, will be leased out, upon advantageous terms, for five or seven years, at the option of the lessees.
Application to be made to the subscriber, residing near the head of Mattawoman Creek, Charles county, Maryland.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 30, 1819.

A FRIEND OF THE CONSTITUTION.—NO. I.

If it be true that no rational friend of the constitution can wish to expunge from it the judicial department, it must be difficult for those who believe the prosperity of the American people to be inseparable from the preservation of this government, to view with indifference the systematic efforts which certain restless politicians of Virginia have been for some time making, to degrade that department in the estimation of the public. It is not easy to resist the conviction that those efforts must have other and more dangerous objects, than merely to impair the confidence of the nation in the present judges.

The zealous and persevering hostility with which the constitution was originally opposed, cannot be forgotten. The deep rooted and vindictive hate, which grew out of unfounded jealousies, and was aggravated by defeat, though suspended for a time, seems never to have been appeased. The desire to strip the government of those effective powers, which enable it to accomplish the objects for which it was created; and, by construction, essentially to reinstate that miserable confederation, whose incompetency to the preservation of our union, the short interval between the treaty of Paris and the meeting of the general convention at Philadelphia, was sufficient to demonstrate, seems to have recovered all its activity. The leaders of this plan, like skilful engineers, batter the weakest part of the citadel, knowing well, that if that can be beaten down, and a breach effected, it will be afterwards found very difficult, if not impracticable, to defend the place. The judicial department, being without power, without patronage, without the legitimate means of ingratiating itself with the people, forms this weakest part; and is, at the same time, necessary to the very existence of the government, and to the effectual execution of its laws. Great constitutional questions are unavoidably brought before this department, and its decisions must sometimes depend on a course of intricate and abstruse reasoning, which it requires no inconsiderable degree of mental exertion to comprehend, and which may, of course, be grossly misrepresented. One of these questions, the case of McCullough against the state of Maryland, presents the fairest occasion for wounding mortally, the vital powers of the government, thro' its judiciary. Against the decision of the court, on this question, weighty interests & deep rooted prejudices are combined.—The opportunity for the assault was too favorable not to be seized.

A writer in the Richmond Enquirer, under the signature of "Hampden," who is introduced to us by the editor, as holding "a pen equal to the great subject he has undertaken to discuss," after bestowing upon Congress in general, and some of its most respectable members in particular, language not much more decorous than that reserved for the judges, says, "The warfare waged by the judicial body has been of a bolder tone and character.—It was not enough for them to sanction, in former times, the detestable doctrines of Pickering & Co. as aforesaid; it was not enough for them to annihilate the freedom of the press, by incarcerating all those who dared, with a manly freedom, to canvass the conduct of their public agents; it was not enough for the predecessors of the present judges to preach political sermons from the bench of justice, and bolster up the most unconstitutional measures of the most abandoned of our rulers; it did not suffice to do the business in detail, and ratify, one by one, the legislative infractions of the constitution. That process would have been too slow, and perhaps too troublesome. It was possible also, that some Hampden might make a stand against some ship money measure of the government, and, although he would lose his cause with the court, might ultimately gain it with the people. They resolved, therefore, to put down all discussions of the kind in future, by a judicial coup de main; to give a general letter of attorney to the future legislators of the union; and to tread under foot all those parts and articles of the constitution, which had been heretofore deemed to set limits to the power of the federal legislature."

Without stopping to enquire whether this ranting declamation, this rash impeachment of the integrity, as well as opinions of all those who have successively filled the judicial department, be intended to illustrate the diffidence with which this modest gentleman addresses his fellow citizens, and the just comparison he has made between "the smallness of his means and the greatness of his undertaking;" or to demonstrate his perfect possession of that temperate, chastened, and well disciplined mind, which is so favorable to the investigation of truth, and which so well fits him who instructs the public, for tasks in which he engages, I shall endeavor to follow him, and to notice the evidence and the arguments with which he attempts to justify this unqualified arraignment of all those who have been selected for the great duty of expounding our constitution and our laws.

But before I proceed to discuss the principles for which Hampden contends, I must be permitted to bestow a few moments on some other of his preliminary observations.

After representing the "legislative power" as "every where extending the sphere of its activity, and drawing all power into its impetuous vortex," he adds, "That judicial power, which, according to Montesquieu, is, in some measure, next to nothing, &c." "that judiciary, which, in Rome, according to the same writer, was not entrusted to decide questions which concerned the interest of the state, in the relation which it bears to the citizens; and which, in England, has only invaded the constitution in the worst of times, and then always on the side of arbitrary power, has also deemed its interference necessary in our country."

I do not quote this passage for the purpose of noticing the hostility of Hampden to those American principles, which, in confiding to the courts, both of the union and of the states, the power, have imposed on them the duty, of preserving the constitution as the permanent law of the land, from even legislative intractions: nor for the purpose of enquiring why he has thought it necessary to inform us that "the judiciary in England has only invaded the constitution in the worst of times, and then always on the side of arbitrary power." I mean only to mark the unjust and insidious insinuation, that the court had thrust itself into the controversy between the United States and the state of Maryland, and had unnecessarily volunteered its services. "The judiciary" he says, "has also deemed its interference necessary in our country."

If Hampden does not know that the court proceeded in this business, not because "it deemed its interference necessary," but because the question was brought regularly before it by those who had a right to demand, and did demand, its decision, he would do well to suspend his censures until he acquires the information which belongs to the subject; if he does know it, I leave it to himself to assign the motives for this insinuation.

With as little regard to the real state of the transaction, he represents the judges as going out of the case, and giving opinions on extrinsic matter. "The supreme court of the United States," he says, "have not only granted this general power of attorney to congress, but they have gone out of the record to do it in the present question. It was only necessary in that case to decide whether or not the bank law was necessary and proper within the meaning of the constitution, for carrying into effect some of the granted powers; but the court have in effect expunged those words from the constitution."

It is scarcely necessary to say that this charge of "in effect expunging those words from the constitution," exists only in the imagination of Hampden. It is the creature of his own mind. But let us see how he makes good his assertion, that the court "has gone out of the record." "It was necessary," he admits, "to decide whether or not the bank law was necessary and proper, within the meaning of the constitution, for carrying into effect some of the granted powers." And, how, let me ask, was the court to decide this question?—Does it not plainly involve an enquiry into the meaning of those words as used in the constitution? The court is required to decide whether a particular act is inhibited by certain words in an instrument: yet if the judges examine the meaning of the words, they are stopped by Hampden, and accused of travelling out of the record.—Their construction may be erroneous.—This is open to argument. But to say that in making the construction they go out of the record, may indeed show the spirit in which these strictures originate; but can impose on no intelligent man.

I must also be permitted to remark that, in discussing a question concerning the power of congress to pass a particular act, it is not allowable to assume as a postulate that the interests of the people are necessarily on the side of the state which contests that power, or that the cause of liberty must be promoted by deciding the question against the government of the union.—When the right to call out the militia was solemnly denied, and the right to lay an unlimited embargo was seriously questioned, Hampden himself, perhaps, was not of opinion that the interest or liberty of the public required the decision of those points to be against the claims of the United States. In fact, the government of the union, as well as those of the states, is created by the people, who have bestowed upon it certain powers for their own benefit, and who administer it for their own good. The people are as much interested, their liberty is as deeply concerned, in preventing encroachments on that government, in arresting the hands which would tear from it the powers they have conferred upon it, as in restraining it within its constitutional limits. The constitution has defined the powers of the government, and has established that division of power which its framers, and the American people, believed to be most conducive to the public happiness and to public liberty. The equipoise thus established is as much disturbed by taking weights out of the scale containing the powers of the government, as by putting weights into it. His hand is unfit to hold the state balance who occupies himself entirely in giving a preponderance to one of the scales.

If it be possible that congress may succeed "in seeing the constitution expounded by the abuses committed under it;" if "a new mode of amending the constitution" may be "added to the ample ones provided in that instrument, and the strongest checks established in it" may be "made to yield to the force of precedents;" if the time may soon arrive when the constitution may be expounded without even looking into it—by merely reading the acts of a renegado congress, or adopting the outrageous doctrines of Pickering, Lloyd, or Sheffy:" It is not less possible that the constitution may be so expounded by its enemies as to become totally inoperative, that a new mode of amendment, by way of report of committees of a state legislature, and resolutions thereon, may pluck from it power after power in detail, or may sweep off the whole at once by declaring that it shall execute its acknowledged powers by those scanty and inconvenient means only which the states shall prescribe, and without which the power cannot exist.—Thus, "by this new mode of amendment," may that government which the American "people have ordained and established," "in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, ensure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to themselves and their posterity," become an inanimate corpse, incapable of effecting any of these objects.

The question is, and ought to be considered, as a question of fair construction. Does the constitution, according to its true sense and spirit, authorize Congress to enact the particular law which forms the subject of enquiry? If it does, the best interests of the people, as well as the duty of those who decide, require that the question should be determined in the affirmative. If it does not, the same motives require a determination in the negative.

SUPREME COURT SITTINGS.

William Warner, plaintiff—Mathias Bruen, defendant.

This cause was tried before the honorable judge Van Ness, for damages against the defendant for having issued out an attachment against the property of the plaintiff during the time he was absent on business in Charleston, S. C. and having notice thereof published in the public newspapers under the act "for relief against absconding and absent debtors"—

The leading circumstances in this case appeared to be as follow—

The plaintiff had purchased goods the property of the defendant, and had given his note with an approved endorser, for the same; he then publicly left the city for Charleston, S. C. leaving his dwelling house furnished and his clerk in the counting house to attend to such business as should be required—he also appointed a respectable mercantile house as his agent, to whom he remitted funds to pay all his engagements during his absence, except the note to the defendant, relying that the endorser would honor it, as the goods, for which it had been given, were purchased on their joint account, and placed in the hands of the son of the endorser in Charleston, S. C. for the purpose of remitting the proceeds to his father to pay the note, instead of which a new note was given by the endorser at 60 days, leaving the old note in possession of the defendant, who, before the same was due, sued the plaintiff at Charleston, S. C. on the old note, and issued out the attachment in this city against his property, and advertised him as an absent debtor.

On the return of the plaintiff to N. York, the defendant did not think proper to relinquish the attachment, and, on application, the supreme court ordered a supersedeas to be issued. The plaintiff soon found that his credit had been destroyed; and several respectable merchants, who had frequently credited him to large amounts, and endorsed for him declared, that after the publication in question they had no confidence in his mercantile standing—all of which was fully proven. The case occupied the attention of the court Wednesday and yesterday; and the jury, after receiving a most able and impartial charge from the judge, returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff of Five Thousand Dollars damages.

John Wells, and J. O. Hoffman, esqrs. for the plaintiff.

D. B. Ogden, Esq. for the defendant.

THE WESTERN EXPEDITION.

The St. Louis Gazette, of the 26th of May, states that the steam boat Johnson passed that place on the 19th ult. with troops, &c. for the Yellow Stone.

A gentleman at fort Osage, on the Missouri, in a letter to us, under date of the 17th May, on the subject of this interesting enterprize, observes, that "col. Johnson is expected to be at St. Louis, with his steam boats, by the 15th of this month. If he succeeds in his enterprise, (of which I have no doubts) he will have done more for the benefit of the western country, indeed I may say for the whole Union, than any other man, (except Jackson) ever did. He will have opened a safe and easy communication to China—which will give such a spur to commercial enterprise that ten years will not pass away before we shall have the rich productions of that country transported from Canton to the Columbia, up that river to the mountains, over the mountains and down the Missouri and Mississippi, all the way (mountains and all) by the potent power of steam. These are not idle dreams rely upon it; to me it seems much less difficult than it was universally called, when I first came here, to navigate the Missouri with sail boats."

COMMERCIAL.

Philadelphia, June 19. 1819.

Messrs. Bache & Norvell,

Gentlemen—I herewith hand you a translation of a Royal Decree, published in Portugal, relative to our commerce with that kingdom. I beg leave to recommend to the Merchants of the U. States shipping there, to accompany their invoice with the certificate required, as it will prevent their paying duty on the long price or in other words paying duty on the value of the articles, after freight, insurance, duty, &c. are charged. Wheat, rye, barley, indian corn, and flour made from them, pay a specific duty; of course this decree does not apply to them

The editors of newspapers throughout the United States, are requested to give this publicity.

J. PEMBERTON HUTCHINSON.
Consul of the United States of America, for Portugal.

To his Excellency Viscount de Balsemao, President of the Council of Trade

Most Illustrious and Excellent Lord,

The King our Lord in conformity with the opinion of the council of trade of 10th February last relative to the entry of merchandize of the U. States of America, orders that six months from this date, no merchandize of the United States of America can be admitted for entry in any of the Custom Houses of Portugal, without the invoices being sworn to before the Portuguese consuls resident in the ports of the United States of America; and their attestations shall declare that the prices charged in the invoices are the current market prices. The consuls shall not charge more than two dollars for each certificate. All merchandize not accompanied with such attestations shall be subject to pay duty on the current market price of the port of entry. Your excellency will make this known to the council, that it may be executed.

God guard Your Excellency.

HYDROPHOBIA.

It gives us much pleasure to state, that James Cann,* carpenter, 108 Henry-street who was in the early part of the present month bitten by a dog unquestionably mad, and who showed unequivocal symptoms that hydrophobia had actually begun, now by taking increased doses of a strong decoction of the Scull-cap, so far recovered that all those symptoms have disappeared, and he considered out of danger. A statement of his case will shortly be drawn up by his two physicians, and published in this paper, and this statement shall be accompanied with some others, that will satisfy every impartial mind of the virtue of this divine plant.

* This is the man alluded to in the Gazette, as laboring under all the horrors of hydrophobia.

Kingston, U. C. June 8.

SINGULAR CIRCUMSTANCE.

On the morning of the 30th ult. about 2 miles below Ernest Town, the Steam-Boat Charlotte struck a large fish with her paddles, which was taken up by capt Dennis, and proved to be a Sturgeon, weighing about 50 pounds. It was probably in the act of jumping when struck.

LATEST FROM SOUTH AMERICA.

Letters from Buenos Ayres of the 30th March, three weeks the latest were received in New-York on Friday, post marked at Wilmington. The U. S. Frigate Macedonian arrived at Valparaiso on the 12th Jan. Cochran had been spoken off Lima. The schr. Petion was to sail from Buenos Ayres for this port on the 16th April. Schooner Plattsburgh, of Baltimore had arrived at Monte Video. [N. Y. Mer. Adv.

Extract of a letter from Capt. Thaxter of the schooner Commerce, of Boston, at Havana

"On the 28th May I made the Hole in the Wall, and was boarded by the Patriot privateer schooner La Constanti, capt. Northrop, who treated us very politely. All he asked for was two planks to repair his gun carriages—for he had had an engagement with a Spanish sloop of war, and lost three of his officers, (among them Lt. Peck, of New-Haven, and Lt. Mackey, N. York,) and 22 men.—Had been out three months and taken two prizes—one of which was in company, a Spanish guineaman, with 45 slaves—and manned altogether with Englishmen and Americans—and had no papers whatever to show but her log book. The Patriot boarding officer said they had no money to pay for the planks—but asked my name, and said if they should fall in with me again, they would endeavor to pay me. The privateer was manned with Englishmen and Americans."

From the Jamaica Courant of May 19, received at the Reading Room, Norfolk,

We understand when colonel Rafter, who had retired into the fort at Porto Bello, and defended it most courageously, understood that Sir Gregor MacGregor had got on board the brig Hero—he immediately despatched an expert swimmer to that vessel, to ascertain his determination on the subject, and to learn what he deemed proper to be done. The soldier returned after a short absence with directions for him, to hold out to the last extremity, and that he would collect all the force of the squadron for their assistance. Col. Rafter conceiving that he was justified after this answer, to perish in defence of the place, defended himself as long as he was able, but to his mortification, he found that shortly after M'Gregor's answer, he had directed the Hero's cable to be cut and sought his safety in flight, by putting to sea in that vessel.

WONDERFUL!!!

Incredible as the following account may appear, we can assure our readers that it is an indisputable fact inasmuch as the number of birds killed, was satisfactorily ascertained by three respectable men, who counted the number, and the corroborative testimony of near a hundred different persons, who went expressly to see them. The following is a brief statement as it occurred.

On Wednesday last the 19th inst at the house of Silas Preston in Plumstead township in Bucks co. a considerable noise was heard in the chimney. The female part of the family became alarmed and sent for Mr. Preston. It is ascertained that the noise was occasioned by the entrance of an innumerable body of Chimney Birds into a chimney, in which, probably no fire had been made for many years. Mr. Preston accompanied by one or two persons repaired to the roof of the house, and by forcing wags on covers down the chimney propelled them into the room where they were killed to the number of four thousand two hundred and thirty!!!

What adds to the singularity of the above fact is that they were apparently all old birds, and appeared to form a complete chain in the chimney of an extraordinary thickness, and reaching nearly from the top to the bottom. The birds are yet visible in the adjoining field. Impossible as it at first seems to many, all now appear to be satisfied of its correctness, and more than five persons of respectability are ready and willing to qualify to the fact.

From London Papers.

CURIOUS CIRCUMSTANCE.

There is now in the possession of Mr. Hayes, a butcher, of Southampton, a pig, with a wooden leg, on the off side before, and it appears to walk with little lameness or inconvenience. This pig belonged to a disbanded soldier, who, having seen many operations performed on his heroic comrades, on the glorious field of Waterloo, remembered enough of surgery to enable him to practice amputation with success on the poor animal, when an accident left no alternative between the loss of a limb or a premature death.

A horse belonging to Mr. M. Moyle, of of Chacewater, Cornwall, was taken ill and died a few days since. As no cause could be assigned for its illness, the carcase was opened, when an adder, nearly 2½ feet long, was found in the stomach.

Sorbic, (new) Acid. A new vegetable acid has been discovered, to which the above name has been given in consequence of its being found in the greatest abundance in the mountain ash, and, we presume other varieties of Sorbic. It differs very materially from the Malic acid, but experiments have not yet sufficiently determined its peculiar properties.

An old woman, seventy years of age, was one of the emigrants that lately sailed on board the brig Fanny, from Carmathan for America. She had waited at a public house in the town some days for the sailing of the vessel, and the landlord accidentally going into the parlor, to his great surprise found the table covered with gold coin of different descriptions, amounting to nine hundred guineas, which she was the moment in the act of counting. The money, she informed him was the many years savings of her profits of a small farm; but finding latterly her store decreased, she was resolved on going to America to improve her property.

A NEW THEORY OF THE RAINBOW.

Dr. Watt, of Glasgow, has accounted for this brilliant phenomenon in a new way. The common explanation is, that the drops of rain act as a prism, and divide the rays of the sun—but as the rainbow is frequently seen in a quarter where no rain is falling, and as the edge of a cloud is at such times, always observed between the beholder and the sun, Dr. Watt, thinks that the rays of the latter are refracted from this edge, and thrown on the dark sky opposite. This does not seem so much like a new theory as a modification of the old. It still produces the rainbow from the refraction of drops of rain—and the fact that the colors are thrown upon the sky in a quarter where there is no rain, may be considered as an accidental circumstance ?

PRINTING IN PALESTINE.

It is well known, that the Archbishop of Jerusalem has been some time in England, soliciting subscriptions to establish a Printing-house, on Mount Libanus, between Syria and Palestine, for the diffusion of the Christian Scriptures in the Syriac language. He has, we learn been eminently successful, having been patronized by Lord Teignmouth, Mr. Wilberforce, and many of the British clergy; though on his arrival it was reported that he was an imposter.—He has visited the great Universities in England, where he was strictly examined in all the Eastern Languages, and Mr. Lee Professor of Arabic, has certified to his astonishing acquaintance with the Oriental literature preserved in the Bodlean library. Mr. Clymer, the American mechanic has presented the Archbishop with one of his patent printing presses; and he has received presents of several founts of types.

Mills at Auction.

THE subscriber, who is the owner of a MANUFACTURING MILL, and a

Durable Geared Saw Mill,

On Broad Run, Prince William County, wishes to sell, and intends offering them for sale by public auction, to the highest bidder, on the first day of July next.—Persons desirous of owning this kind of property, are particularly invited to attend the sale, as the property will be most positively sold on that day, and as an opportunity of purchasing Mills so truly desirable, will not again occur.—To render the purchase still more desirable, there will be attached to these mills,

50 Acres of excellent Land,

One half of which will be in wood, or the whole, if required by the purchaser. In point of locality, no mills can be better situated, within half a mile of the road leading to the Thoroughfare Gap of the mountain, which is the route established by Act of Assembly as a Turnpike, to which there is the most ready access; and being surrounded by a country well timbered, and occupied by excellent Farmers, who cultivate extensively. Both these mills are in complete order for work, having lately undergone thorough repairs. In the Grist Mill, there are two pair of large Burrs and a pair of Stones for the Corn custom, which are turned by a force of water sufficient for the operation of an additional pair of Burrs, for which the house is abundantly commodious.

The terms of sale, one third of the purchase money in hand, and the balance to be divided into two equal payments of one and two years, without interest, and possession to be given on the first day of August, which will be immediately preceding the commencement of the manufacturing season.

The prospect for a crop of wheat the present season in this neighborhood and for a considerable extent upwards is very flattering, and to a person who could apply his funds to such an object, it is confidently believed that no pursuit whatever would be attended with greater profit.—The sale will take place on the premises, well known in the neighborhood by the name of the Cloverland Mills, about half a mile from the subscriber's place of residence.

JOHN HOPKINS

Hill and Dale, April 20.

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain; being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensels and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be goverued by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

For the information of all persons throughout the U. States, R. Riggs makes it known, that all of the Banks of the District of Columbia pay their notes on demand in specie; and it would be much to the advantage of the merchants, and trading to the South and west, to encourage the circulation of the Notes of the Banks of Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria, as it will at all times answer for remittances to the large commercial and Atlantic towns;—all persons emigrating or travelling to the westward should be very particular and take the Notes of the Banks of the District of Columbia, as they will find them the most current, there being no counterfeits on the District Banks. Notice,

To Wheelwrights, Blacksmiths, Tanners Harness-Makers, Saddlers, Hatters, &c.

BELIEVING as I do, that PROVIDENCE at Fairfax Court-House, would be a suitable situation for mechanics of the above description, I offer to such, lots in that village for sale, on ground rent for ever—will build and furnish suitable houses and rent to them, or furnish brick to them to build with; and invite any who feel disposed to settle there, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage, to come and view the situation. It is a very public place, the centre of the county, where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turnpike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward, and where all the public meetings for the county, &c. are held; and where trades of the aforesaid description being carried on, would meet with great encouragement, and be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy—good water, and fire wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be their customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes. I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. RATCLIFFE.

PROSPECTUS

Of a new periodical work to be published in the city of Washington, entitled the Washington Theological REPERTORY.

EDITORS. { Rev. WM HAWLEY, Washington,
Rev. WM. H. WILMER, Alexandria,
Rev. OLIVER NORRIS, Alexandria,
Rev. REUEL KEITH, Georgetown.

Assisted by several other literary gentlemen of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

IF any apology were necessary for this undertaking, it may be found in the fact, that there is no publication on a similar plan, in all that section of our country lying south of New-York, and but one in the whole of the United States. It has been matter of equal surprize and regret, that the Episcopal Church should be so far behind other Christian denominations, in similar efforts to disseminate the principles of religion and piety. At a period like the present, when the Lord is preparing his way on earth, by the most remarkable efforts of human agency, and the most wonderful operations of his providence and grace—when we perceive in every part of Christendom, a praise-worthy emulation to share in the glorious work of filling the earth with the knowledge of the only true God, and his Son Jesus Christ; it would seem criminal for any to withhold their exertions, however feeble, in the great enterprize of human happiness and salvation. The editors have, therefore, felt it their duty to make this humble effort to supply this acknowledged deficiency on the part of the church in this section of the country, and to bear their share in the common exertions of Christians to promote the Redeemer's Kingdom. And having obtained the services of a gentleman, in whose talents and principles they have confidence, whose time will be wholly devoted to the superintendence of the work, they feel encouraged to solicit the patronage of the public.

The publecation will be conducted under the immediate inspection and control of the above named editors, who will form a committee to review every article intended for publication. The principles upon which it will be conducted are those of the bible, as illustrated in the articles, Liturgy and Homilies of the Protestant Episcopal Church. As members of this church the editors will feel bound to support the Apostolical character of her institutions, the pious tendency of her rites and ceremonies, and the evangelical nature of her doctrines. But in these, and all other discussions, they hope never to loose sight of that great law of charity which teaches us to "preserve the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace."

Acting upon those catholic principles, so long and so successively pursued by "The Christian Observer," their chief object will be to inculcate sound theological knowledge and to delineate and recommend pure and vital religion. They trust therefore, that while the members of every Christian denomination may find something edifying and instructive, none will discover any just cause for offence in the pages of this work. General subjects of biblical criticism, practical illustrations of scriptural truth, the biography of illustrious persons, evidences of the truth of revelation, essays on the history and polity of the church, reviews of interesting publications, religious, literary and philosophical intelligence—in short, whatever is connected with the promotion of religion, humanity and literature, will find a place in this repository.

The testimony of experience supersedes the necessity of dwelling on the advantages of a periodical publication on the plan proposed. Its obvious tendency will be to render the various departments of religious knowledge more easy and accessible, and give a more ready currency and wider circulation, to those great truths which involve the present welfare and future destiny of man.

It will tend powerfully to stimulate the exertions of the editors, and console them under the difficulties attendant on the prosecution of this work, amidst many other avocations, should it prove the means under the blessing of God, of enriching any of its readers with the saving knowledge of Christ, and prepare them for a participation in the felicity and glory of his heavenly kingdom. With this hope they commit it into his hands, and confidently solicit their brethren of the clergy and laity to assist them in carrying into effect the objects of the undertaking.

TERMS OF THE WORK.

A volume of the Repertory shall consist of twelve numbers, of which one shall be published on the first day of every month, containing thirty-two large octavo pages, stitched in blue, and attended with a table of contents.

The paper used in the work shall be good, and the typography executed with the greatest care.

The price of a volume is two dollars, payable in advance; to such as omit the advance, two dollars and fifty cents.

It is designed to enlarge the size of the work, without increasing the price, as soon as one thousand subscribers shall be obtained.

Communications and remittances may be directed to any of the editors, post paid.

Any person becoming responsible for five subscribers, shall receive a sixth copy gratis.

The first number may be expected in the month of July. June 26
